

RiverWoods Pet Hospital Newsletter

April 2008

Welcome to this issue of our Newsletter! We are excited to share important information, special offers, Staff Spotlights with you!

Staff Spotlight: Ashley

Ashley is new to the veterinary field and has recently joined our team as a receptionist. Ashley is originally from Maryland and moved to Provo to attend BYU where she is studying Sociology. She recently got married in December and lives in Provo with her husband. She is excited to be working here at the hospital and loves animals!

Heart Worm Testing & Preventative

Spring marks the beginning of heartworm season. Heart worms are parasites transmitted to our pets through infected mosquitoes. The dangers of these parasites include heart and lung problems and death. RiverWoods Pet Hospital recommends heartworm preventative for your dog year round. If your dog has not been on a preventative, we recommend a heartworm test prior to prescribing a preventative for your pet. We carry a variety of preventatives to suit your pet's needs including Heartgard and Interceptor. These preventatives are disguised as a tasty beef flavored treat, only have to be administered once a month, and are equipped with a dewormer to keep your pet healthy year round. (Prices on back)

Lyme & Giardia Vaccines

We offer a variety of vaccinations to keep your pet healthy. Giardia and Lyme vaccinations are recommended for dogs with an active lifestyle that include hiking, camping, and hunting. Ask a member of our team for more information on these vaccinations.

Thank you for choosing RiverWoods Pet Hospital for your pet care needs. Our doctors and staff take pride in offering the very best pet health care.
